

A for accredited

The ECBM runs fully internationally recognised and accredited Bachelor and Masters programmes

B for Bachelor studies

ECBM runs a Bachelor in Business Studies and a Bachelor in Fashion Management

C for cost effective

Our fees are reasonable because we are a Charity organisation

D for Doctorate

A number of our students have gone further to achieve a Doctorate

E for experienced

All directors and lecturers are well experienced with respected careers in the business or academic world

F for flexibility

Through our system of blended learning and weekend seminars you can structure your studies on your own terms

G for graduation

Students are invited to celebrate their graduation in a superb ceremony in London or at one of our University partners

H for Handelskammer

We are the official Higher Education and training institution of the German-British Chamber of Industry and Commerce in London (AHK)

I for international

ECBM combines German virtues and a highly recognised British university degree

J for join the community

Join our alumni community and participate in a growing network of professionals

K for „Keep calm and study part-time“

You can combine your studies with both private life and a career by managing your study time on your own

L for life long learning

The ECBM aims to provide studies that offer a wide variety of knowledge and skills and will help you in your everyday business

M for Master studies

We offer three different Master programmes: the MBA, Masters in International Business and Management (M.Sc.) and Masters in International Fashion and Media Management (M.A.)

N for network

One in three of our MBAs are General Managers or CEOs who could help you get a new job, be a valuable business contact or act as your mentor

O for opportunities

Studying at ECBM will improve your career with an English language international qualification

P for partner universities

You will obtain a proper degree from a state recognised institution. Liverpool John Moores University and the University of South Wales are our longstanding partner universities.

Q for questions

We are delighted to answer your questions at any time. Just get in touch with us via www.ecbm-london.de and we will talk you through.

R for research

With our support, successful Master students could even become published authors in ranked academic journal.

S for scholarship

The AHK provides the opportunity to apply for a scholarship for Master students who have finished a Bachelor with ECBM. Here are all the details. ← Link einfügen

T for top-up

Our qualifications are based on what you have achieved in Germany so your studies may be faster and more cost-effective.

U for unlocking your potential

Due to our small groups, personal supervision and optional courses, your potential will be analysed and fully tapped.

V for vocational training

ECBM has partnered with German employers in London for many years to provide a vocational training scheme for new employees.

W for „When can I start?“

Courses start annually in September and the MBA kicks off in February as well. Apply as soon as possible to reserve your place and take the future into your own hands.

X for eXcellent results

Most of our students graduate with a first or upper second degree. This is not also remarkable but also very helpful if you apply for Master studies at any university.

Y for you

The classes are normally small and ECBM treats its students as individuals, not a number in the system. We are happy to assist you with any upcoming questions during your studies.

Z for Generation Z

Especially young adults benefit from our personal supervision. During your studies you will find yourself within a supporting community, make new friends and improve your skills together.
